

VINOTEMP &

delish | Costco Is Selling A 300 Bottle Wine Fridge, So I Know Where My Tax Refund Is Going

The Vinotemp Designer Series 300 Bottle Wine Fridge's availability for purchase at Costco is highlighted in a light-hearted write-up around wine storage and tax refunds. In the article the editor touts the cooler's impressive storage capacity, reasonable price point and dual-zone storage capabilities.

AUDIENCE: 3,825,903 unique visitors/month

"Delish.com offers readers access to thousands of recipes as well as the latest news on food buzz and trends. Visitors can experience the lifestyle elements associated with food [and wine] through articles, photo galleries, video and interactive tools. The site combines recipes and how-to's with engaging content that focuses on entertainment and pop culture as it relates to food." – delish

Costco Is Selling A 300 Bottle Wine Fridge, So I Know Where My Tax Refund Is Going

Yep, seems like a good investment.

by TAYLOR MEAD MAR 29, 2019

Regardless of your roommate sitch, living with a massive wine fridge is inarguably better than living without one, so when my tax refund hits the bank in the coming weeks, it's high time I invest in myself. Thankfully, Costco is here to help us live our best lives when that time comes as the big box store is selling the Vinotemp Designer Series 300 Bottle Wine Fridge for a cool $1,899.99. Worth it.

Of course, It's not just any wine fridge. This dual zone wine bottle cooler works perfectly to keep both your red and white grape booze at optimal temps, with space for actually setting two different temperatures. In addition to keeping your bottles at the perfect degree so they're ready to drink whenever, wherever, the fridge features secure-hold racking so bottles don't roll around, as well as Blu LED lighting to illuminate the shelves while simultaneously keeping mold and bacteria away.

All in all, I can't really think of a better way to spend my tax refund, so here goes nothing. Confirms purchase.