Registration Open For KBIS, IBS

LAS VEGAS — Registration is now open for the 2020 Kitchen & Bath Industry Show (KBIS), as well as the 2020 International Builders' Show (IBS), the concurrent trade events that comprise "Design & Construction Week."

A three-day event, KBIS — owned by the National Kitchen & Bath Association (NKBA) — is the largest North American trade destination for kitchen and bath industry professionals. IBS, owned by the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB), has been co-located with KBIS for the past six years.

The shows, scheduled to take place Jan. 21-23, 2020 at the Las Vegas Convention Center, are expected to feature more than one million square feet of exhibit space, showcasing over 2,000 design and construction brands and attracting more than 95,000 industry professionals. The event will also include a full slate of educational programming, networking opportunities and special events.

"The excitement that is KBIS 2020 is not to be missed," said Suzie Willford, executive v.p./industry relations and chief strategy officer for the NKBA. "The kitchen and bath industry is thriving and evolving rapidly. KBIS is a lively and energetic platform showcasing the latest products and technologies that will shape the homes of the future and provide a wealth of learning and networking opportunities for the full spectrum of professionals across our industry."

The KBIS 2020 show floor, according to sponsors, encompasses three halls featuring more than 600 exhibitors. The IBS show floor will also feature the CEDIA Pavilion, a space that showcases exhibitors who specialize in technology solutions for the home.

"It's our goal for the NAHB International Builders' Show to be the event of the year for our members and industry professionals," said NAHB Chairman Greg Ugalde. "Nowhere else will you find top-level education sessions, a variety of networking opportunities, special events and an exhibit hall full of innovative products all in one place."

Information, including registration details, is available by visiting the shows' websites www.ibs.com and www.buildersshow.com.

Vinotemp Moves Offices to Nevada

HENDERSON, NV — Vinotemp, a leading supplier of wine storage solutions, appliances and related accessories, has relocated its southern California headquarters to a new location in Henderson, NV.

The company's new headquarters contains more than 118,000 square feet of space, making Vinotemp the largest wine cabinet and cooling solutions provider in the nation, according to the company.

In addition to wine storage solutions, Vinotemp recently introduced a kitchen appliance line - Brama by Vinotemp. That decision, said the company, ultimately led it to leave California and relocate to a larger facility in Nevada.

"Vinotemp's relocation from California to Nevada was a strategic decision, prompted by both sales growth, which resulted in the need for more space, as well as additional efficiencies that come with operating our business in the state of Nevada," said Vinotemp CEO India Hynes. "We're excited about our new headquarters and the continued growth it will inspire."

Vinotemp said it anticipates being ready to service products from the Nevada location this month. The new headquarters will also include a showroom that will be open to the public, the company said.
